Serving K-12 Educators Since 1987!

Professional Learning Communities (PLC)

Enjoy a fast-paced week of learning, remembering why you teach.

-Scott Ricardo, President

I have learned more during this one week than in all of the conferences I have attended over the last 10 years.

-Ann Donnelly
Howell High School
Freshman Campus

Thank you for providing us with a diverse array of educational topics and for affording us the opportunity to exercise more than our minds—we loved the morning walks.

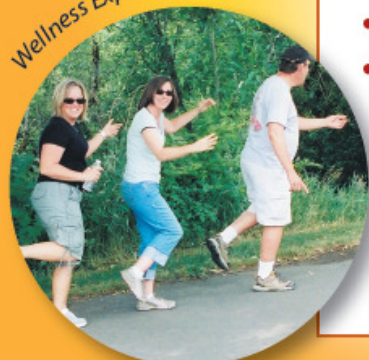

-Tim H. Wood Ph.D.
Superintendent
Saugatuck Public Schools

The SI (Summer Institute) provides current info with interesting presentations.

It is motivational, practical, relaxed and rejuvenating. A great way to prepare yourself to go back into the classroom as a better teacher and person.

-Lynette Pemble

KEYNOTE PRESENTATIONS:

Addressing Today's Standards

Lynne Krug,
2010 Ohio Teacher of the Year Runner-Up
Strongsville City School District

Lynne Krug, 2010 Ohio Teacher of the Year Runner-Up, is a National Board Certified Teacher from Strongsville. Currently, she teaches sixth grade gifted students and serves an adjunct professor at Ashland University, working as a mentor with NBPTS candidates. She received a fellowship for The National Writing Project and received the Governor's Award for Excellence in Education, a Commendation from the Ohio State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and awards from NASA and NSTA for her work with students in science.

Dennis Desmarais,
Superintendent of Riverview Schools, MI

One Last Chance Dennis Desmarais has been a fixture at SI for the past eight years. His observations and experiences as a teacher and administrator for the past thirty plus years have made us acutely aware of the communicating aspects of teaching. From Dennis we learn that teaching is more than classroom objectives.

Michael French, Ph.D, Director of Graduate Education at Lourdes College

Dr. French's specialties in literacy education include neurological aspects of reading, reading assessment and diagnosis, the applied uses of technology for teaching and assessing literacy topics. He is the author or co-author of many articles, chapters, and texts on these topics.

Frankie Goldberg, Jesse Canonic,
Assistant Prosecuting
Attorneys, Cuyahoga County
Prosecutors Office, Ohio Internet Crimes Against Children

(ICAC) Task Force This presentation will cover the topics of sexting, cyberbullying and internet predators. The Cuyahoga County Prosecutor's Office is active in working to protect children from sexual exploitation and has developed this presentation in order to educate adults on the warning signs.

Tim Wood, PhD, Grand Valley State University
Creating Positive School Climate

Tim has served as a teacher, coach, athletic director, teacher association president, department head, assistant principal, high school principal, and district superintendent. He will discuss the four components that affect a positive K-12 school climate. The use of these four components enabled Northview High School-Grand Rapids, Douglas Elementary School-Saugatuck and Lakewood High School-Lake Odessa to receive the National Blue Ribbon Exemplary School Award.

Michele Kilroy, LEED AP
Coordinator, Northeast Ohio Chapter of the U.S. Green Building Council

Sustainability in the Classroom Thru the USGBC, Michele is committed to supporting educators in using the built environment as the context for learning. Education efforts are key to ensuring every student lives in sustainable cities, communities, and green schools. The reorientation of K-12 programs toward sustainability and green building is critical to preparing students for a broadening green marketplace.
